

Spray Polyurethane Foam Roof Systems

KMCoatings' spray-applied polyurethane foam (SPF) roof systems offer sustainability and high performance. No seams, no fasteners, self-flashing system that can be re-coated and renewed to extend the life of the roof. The highly reflective top coat surface works with the insulation to reduce roof temperatures and thermal stress. This system eliminates thermal bridging, adds superior insulation properties for improved building energy efficiency and indoor environment.

Features

- Highest insulation values – R value 6.3/in
- Air barrier, insulation and roofing system in a single application
- Can be applied over most existing substrates and retrofit installations
- Seamless and self-flashing
- Long lifespan

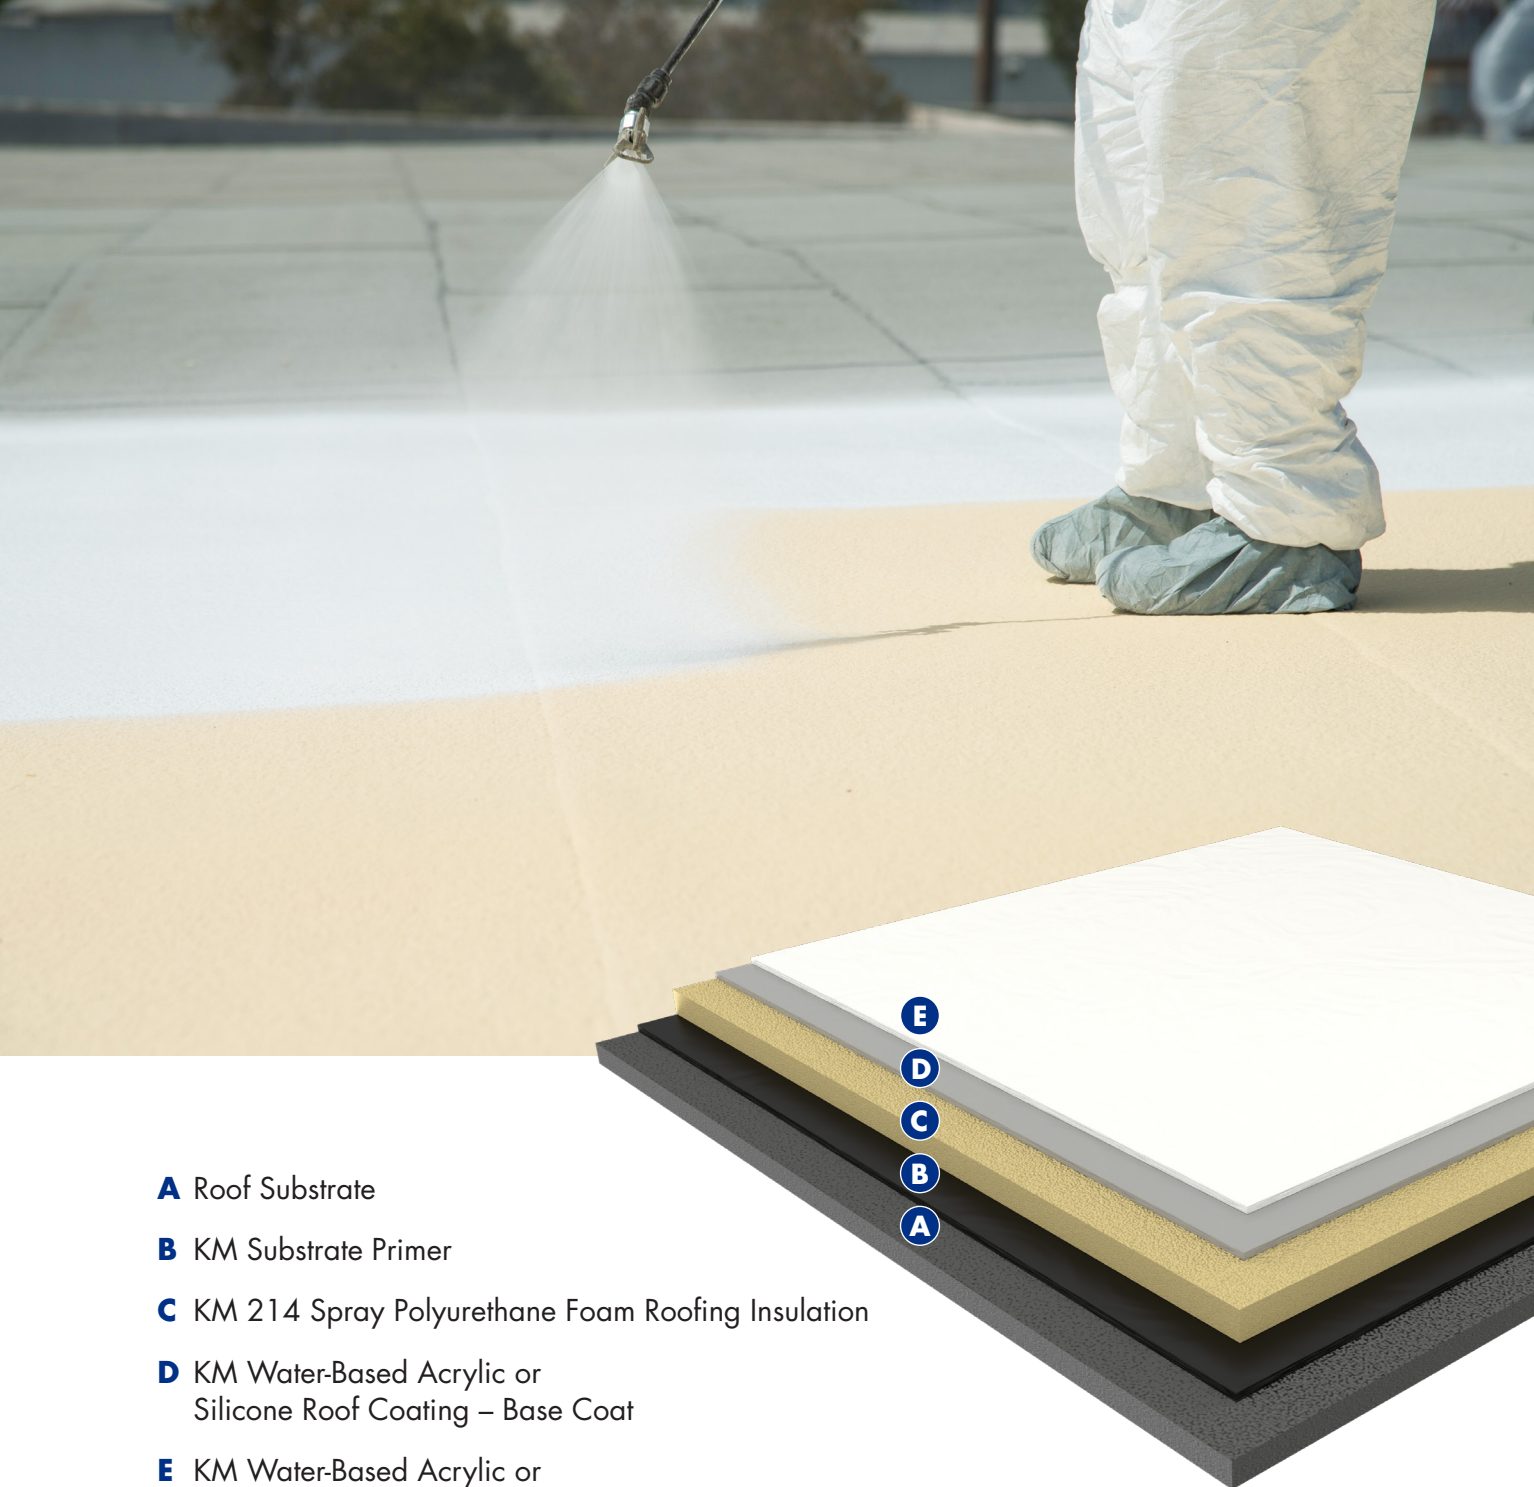

Benefits

- Cost-effective and sustainable solution
- No tear-off and disposal costs
- Improved building durability, energy efficiency and indoor environment
